DR. FITZGERALD WINS

Nominated for Congress in the 10th district Dr. John F. Fitzgerald, won out. He says:
"The battle was a royal one, and the principle for which I fought, the full development of the resources of Boston's harbor, won the day for me."
"If the Boston business men, who are supposed to be our leaders here, will get together now and work with the Mayor, Mr. Callahan and myself, there will be something doing in this port that will make us all proud of it."

POSTMASTER MURRAY

It is with sorrow that we note the death of Postmaster William F. Murray who was taken ill at his summer home Nantasket and from thence was conveyed to the City Hospital where he died on Saturday night. His death is a great loss.
Postmaster William F. Murray's body lies in a grave in the family lot in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline, but the memory of the impressive tributes paid to his untimely and fruitful public career and magnetic personality will always linger with the hundreds of men and women of every station of life who attended the services in St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, Tuesday morning.
Ex-Governors, the Mayor and several ex-mayors of Boston, numerous municipal department heads and United States officials, judges, Congressmen and others prominent in public life and the professions occupied seats in the sanctuary.

Solemn high requiem mass was celebrated by the Postmaster's brother, Rev. Fr. Stephen Grover Murray of St. Margaret's Church, Lowell, with Rev. Andrew J. O'Brien as deacon; Rev. James H. Phalen, subdeacon; Rev. M. J. Murphy, master of ceremonies; Rev. James A. Hurley, thrifter; Rev. Carl Dunbury and Rev. Augustin McMahon, acolytes.
Priests from various Massachusetts parishes occupied seats in the sanctuary. More than 2500 persons assembled in the church and hundreds of others were unable to obtain admittance. Rev. Edward MacHugh sang the "Pie Jesu" and Miss Katherine V. Hennessey, of Lowell the "De Profundis."

The body was conveyed to and from the church between lines of uniformed letter carriers. During the services the main Postoffice and all sub-stations were closed and life flags on these buildings were at half-staff.

A delegation of the Charitable Irish Society composed of Pres. John J. Sullivan, Sec. John J. Keenan, John A. Kigan, David P. Long, Judge Charles S. Sullivan, Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James A. Dorsey and Ex-Mayor J. Edward Barry of Cambridge acted as honorary bearers.

The bearers were United States Marshal John J. Mitchell, Thomas D. Lavelle, Richard S. Teeling, Edward E. Moore, Michael J. Brophy, Joseph L. Martin, Dr. Frederick L. Good and Dr. Daniel J. Hurley.

Committal prayers were offered by Rev. Fr. Murray and his assistants at the mass.

Among the many floral tributes that decked the grave of the late postmaster was a unique piece from the Boston Postoffice department. It bore the words: "Hon. William F. Murray, Postmaster, Boston, Mass., and bore the 'time stamp,' 'Sept. 21, 11:30 p. m.' as a representation of a letter sent through the mails."

ABOUT MR. LAWSON

The Boston election commissioners expressed the opinion at the expiration of the tie allowed for filing nomination papers for the State primary, that Thomas W. Lawson had probably "gone over" with the required number of signatures to have his name appear on the ballot, as an independent candidate for the United States Senate.

Mrs. J. F. Lord (Marion Lawson), who for several days maintained a lively campaign for signatures to her father's papers, declared to the election commissioners that she had in outside cities and towns a total of at least 500 certified names. In order to obtain a place on the ballot a candidate must have at least 1000 certified signatures.

When the filing time expired at 5 o'clock last night the election commissions had certified 520 names in the 24 Lawson papers that had been examined. The number of names rejected was about 80 per cent, this action being taken because the signers were residents of other cities and towns, and therefore not entitled to vote in Boston.

Expecting Too Much.

The girl or boy who expects her friends to be perfect has many a disappointment in store. Human nature is full of surprises, but perfection would be the greatest surprise of all. Do not be astonished when you discover some little flaw in your friend's character. For unless love has blinded him, it is very certain that your friend has discovered a similar flaw in yourself.

Friendship.

Friendship is a vase which, when it is flawed by heat, or violence, or accident, may well be broken at once; it can never be trusted after. The more graceful and ornamental it was, the more clearly do we discern the hopelessness of restoring it to its former state. Coarse stones, if they are fractured, may be cemented again; precious stones—never.

TIMELY TOPICS

Wise, Super-Wise and Otherwise

OF INTEREST TO THE PUBLIC

Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, Chief of the division of purchase, storage and traffic of the general staff of the Army, has commissioned Arthur A. Hammerschlag, President of the Carnegie Institute, and Lieut. Col. J. W. McIntosh, Subsistence Division, Q. M., N. A., to co-operate with the Chicago packers in experiments which may save up to 40 per cent of the tremendous cargo space now required for shipping fresh beef. President Hammerschlag and Col. McIntosh have already reached the stock yards and the experiments have begun.

The experiments contemplate not only the conservation of shipping space, but also the problem of having the packages small enough to be handled by the class of labor available at unloading ports overseas and the quick and convenient issue at supply depots in France.

They range from the mere cutting of the carcass into more convenient sizes and shapes to the entire boning of the carcass to be packed in boxes. It is estimated that if the plans prove practicable a saving of from 15 to 40 per cent of the room now used in transporting the same amount of beef will be made possible. Since fresh beef constitutes a considerable part of some 350,000,000 pounds of beef and pork products now sent monthly to allied countries the saving by the new method may prove to be considerable if found practical. The bones and surplus fats salvaged by the operation will be converted into various by-products.

The chief difficulties encountered so far have been the necessity of obtaining enough labor sufficiently skilled in this particular work and the providing of facilities necessary to handle the quantities required without interfering with production of other meat products being prepared for our armies and those of our allies.

THE FOURTH LOAN IS THE FIGHTING LOAN

As the campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan approaches the American Army in France moves on toward Berlin. Under our own leaders the great American Army has won a notable victory.

The Fourth Loan must be a great success. The Fourth Liberty Loan is a fighting loan.

When our soldiers on the battle front are braving death, each one offering to make the supreme sacrifice for his country and the great cause, we who remain safely at home surely should give them every support, should make every sacrifice to strengthen them. If we can not fight ourselves we can make our dollars fight.

It is a great cause for which America is engaged in this war; it is a great struggle in which the very hope of the world is bound up that is being waged in Europe and on the high seas. It is an honor to have a part in it and all Americans, all of their lives, will be proud of the part they had in it or ashamed of their failure to do their part.

The Fourth Loan is a fighting loan. Every subscriber to the Loan strikes a blow for Liberty, for Victory.

NANTASKET IS PATRIOTIC

Attention is called to the Liberty Loan advertisement which the Nantasket Beach Hotel Keepers' Ass'n has endorsed and paid for. Mr. Robert Kelly, president, in selecting the cut said, "a familiar form of salutation with us is the friendly 'hello,' instead of the formal 'how do you do,' so I guess we'll take 'Hello, Patriots' as ours."

SCITUATE, ATTENTION

Your patriot citizen Mr. Thomas W. Lawson has placed an advertisement of the Fourth or "Fighting" Liberty Loan in your paper. This adv. was gotten up under the supervision of your government and you should read and consider well and then go ahead. Scituate has always played an important part in history and is doing it now. It is said that over 200 of Scituate's brave boys are in the service; are in "the attack."

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

By some misadventure the names of the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive for Hull which was supplied by Rev. Frank Kingdon, secretary and treasurer, was lost. Mr. C. V. Nickerson is chairman and the drive is progressing. The three selectmen, Messrs. Smith, Jeffrey and Galliano are on the committee. Further than that my memory does not go. The public can do its duty just the same.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING

Dr. Edgar M. Holmes of 531 Beacon street, a prominent throat specialist, who has made his summer home at Allerton for many years was drowned off the Windermere float when the canoe in which he and his son, Edgar M. Holmes, Jr., were paddling was capsized. His son, 16 years old made a valiant effort to save his father, but before aid arrived he was forced to give up the struggle. His cries brought Mr. John J. McCormack who was working about the shore to the rescue and trying to the boy to "hold on" he rowed out and was in time to rescue Edgar who clung to the overturned canoe. Capt. Sparrow and the crew of the Point Allerton Coast who came upon the scene of the accident quickly made a search for the body of Dr. Holmes but it was not recovered for several hours, when the tide went down, it was discovered in the eel grass. The funeral was held at his late home. The body was taken to Middletown, Conn., where it will be buried in the family lot. The honorary pallbearers were President Bumpus of Tufts University, Dr. John Slattery of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dr. Wilson, acting superintendent of the Boston City Hospital, and the members of the senior staff of surgeons.

Worth While Quotation.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published? Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A passenger train arriving at a station in Oklahoma with some two hundred soldiers, many of whom were officers, attracted the attention of two negroes as they paraded. As the officers walked by "Sambo" and "George" would exclaim, "Dat's a captin!" or "He's a lieftenant," as the case might be.

At last a French soldier in his blue-gray uniform passed by.

"What's he, Sambo—a kunnelt?" asked George.

"No, George, dat's dis yere General Staff."

Why Dread Old Age?

It doesn't matter how old you are, if you keep well and active. Lots of folks are younger at 70 than others are at 60. Lame, bent backs; stiff, achy, rheumatic joints; bad eyesight and deafness are too often due to neglected kidney trouble and not to advancing years. Don't let weak kidneys age you. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have made life more comfortable for thousands of elderly folks.

A Massachusetts Case

Mrs. A. Williamson, 6 Pearson Ave., West Somerville, Mass., says: "I had very severe pains in my back when I did my ironing or washing. I sometimes thought the pain would kill me. My kidneys became weak and I was greatly bothered on that account. I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I was entirely cured of all kidney weakness."

THEY ARE NOT ALWAYS FIGHTING

American soldiers in France not only enjoy their smokes, but cards as well. The game is probably "strip poker," as two of the men have already discarded their shirts. One has a large safety pin, ready for instant use in case of further losses, but then—note the horseshoe on his shoe.

TELLS OF WILD MOTOR RIDE OVER A SHELL-SWEPT ROAD

By CLARENCE B. KOLLAND.

Paris.—A man can be only so frightened. After that he dies suddenly, or laughs, or both. Also, no matter how scared you are, curiosity survives.

If a shell is coming, you want to see it land. If it is going to swat you, you want to see how it goes about it.

We were going back from the front—back. The battle was behind us. Privately each one of us didn't care how much farther behind us it got. It could pick up its belongings and move away from us as fast as we were moving away from it if it wanted. Nobody would hear a protest from any of us.

At a crossroads our meteoric progress was halted by a young and severe soldier with M. P. on his sleeve.

"You can't pass," he said; "they're shelling the road ahead."

He didn't need to tell us. We knew it. As a matter of fact we could have told him things about that road being shelled that he would never know.

A shell came screaming over our heads to "wham" down alongside the road a hundred yards beyond. It wasn't a big shell. In a calmer moment, and at a greater distance, I might have admitted that it was a little shell, an insignificant shell, a negligible three-inch shell. But when it went over my head I was willing to take oath that it was a 42 centimeter. When I was dug out of the ditch into which I had dived and the mud scraped out of my eyes I took a last look down the road.

Cap as Shock Absorber.

Something was painful me in the region of the knees. Also there was a sound resembling that made by Brother Bones in the minstrel show. Minute examination demonstrated that the pain was caused by the knees assailing each other venomously. I stuck my cap between them as a shock absorber and looked again.

It was a busy little road. It was not a popular road. Everybody on it had taken a dislike to it and was moving away with enthusiasm. In the distance were three German prisoners and one American private. The private was on a horse. It looked a very fast horse, but the Germans were having trouble with it. It kept getting in their way. They stumbled over it.

"Wham" came another shell. Its explosion was almost drowned out by the sounds of concussion at my side. They were caused by the being together of the knees of the driver of the Y. M. C. A. car and by those of a buck private. Their note was different, and the meter dissimilar, but the air was much the same. I could not quite make out which accomplished the most knocks to the minute, nor which was loudest.

Several ration carts were approaching. It was no slow, dignified, matronly progress. Anybody who believes a team of mules is incapable of speed should have been there to see. The ration carts were filled with hard tack. The hard tack was as scared as anything else, and was trying to keep up to the cart—but it was out of luck.

It had no arms to hang on with. The air was full of hard tack. It flowed out behind those ration carts like a ribbon. It was a snowstorm of hard tack, and nobody paused to ask where it fell.

Ditches Are Popular.

Every ditch was unbelievably popular. It didn't have to be a deep ditch nor a clean ditch. Any common or garden variety of ditch would do. A six-foot man was perfectly able to conceal himself in a six-inch ditch. Heads would poke up, and another shell would land. Immediately it would become a scene of desolation, a lifeless waste.

After awhile an airplane went overhead to loose the battery that was causing all the rumpus. Then the battery stopped.

"Go ahead," said the M. P. "They're through now."

He is the last M. P. I shall ever believe. This is positive. He meant well, and spoke the truth according to his lights, but his lights were dim. We

NEAR BODY OF BROTHER WERE 7 DEAD HUNS

New Brighton, Pa.—"Today we were up on the battlefield to bury our boys and we found Verner among the dead. Now, don't worry too much. He died game. He still held his rifle in his hands and there were seven dead Huns in front of him." This was in a letter received by John McFarland from his son, telling him of the death of another son on the Marne battlefield.

the seams of my pants for the same reason.

"Get in," said he.

I never saw a car so difficult to mount, so high to climb, but I got there. The driver cranked it and we started away with gay, nonchalant waves of the hand.

We had to climb a hill. I suggested that maybe the engine needed a little tinkering before we tried it, but the driver thought not. I could have found troubles in that engine that would have held us there a week. But we went on.

All of a sudden the air filled up with the holler of a shell. It busted vehemently, but I didn't see it. I was where I couldn't see, with my head down among the control levers. A few pieces of roof and debris settled on my back, but I was not annoyed. The more that settled there the better I would be protected.

"Shall we go on?" the driver asked.

"I'm just a passenger," said I with steady courage. "I can't jump out while you are moving—at this rate, anyhow."

Knew It Was a Roof.

Another shell landed, this time on the roof at our very elbow so to speak. I didn't have time to join the levers again, so I saw it. It landed on a roof, because I saw the roof just before it landed. I will never see that roof again. Our acquaintance was brief. As I looked the roof moved away from there hastily. It sought divers destinations, many of which were in, at or around us. Tiles and plaster and dust filled the air.

"Mister," said I, "step on her. She's standing still."

"We're doing sixty an hour if we're doing an inch," he said.

It was not true. I can prove it. It took us 12 minutes, actual count, to pass a tree. Afterwards the driver told me it wasn't a tree, but a woods several kilometers long, but he was mistaken. I know a single tree when I see it, and I counted that tree again and again.

"I hope," I said, "that the soldiers get this tobacco. I hope they get it soon, 'cause they're in disgust."

They're in disgust.

NEW BATTLEPL

Machine Being Built at Cleveland Shows Up Well in the Tests.

Cleveland, O.—A new type of battle plane is now being turned out here the new plant of the Glenn L. Martin company, and the first of the plane now being put through its acceptance tests, has shown exceptional maneuvering ability for its size, as well as speed in climbing and straightaway flying.

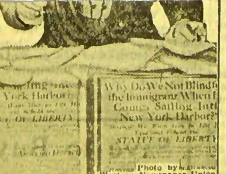

The new Martin plane is much larger than the battleplanes now use by the allies in Europe. It has wing spread of 75 feet and is powered with two 400-horsepower motors, in addition to regular equipment it has a carrying capacity of 2,400 pounds and is said to be so constructed that there is no "blind" spot, or line approach which its guns do not cover.

The machine, equipped with machine guns, showed on first flights that it could be handled

The Parent-Teacher Ass'n held an executive meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the Damon School.

Miss Alice Burr has been appointed by the Special Aid Society to take charge of the collection of peach stones wanted by the government and already has a large corps of children collecting. The committee in charge of the Liberty Loan Drive has formulated plans and it looks promising.

Frequent hys bands, slaves wear them. Wear your old clothes and buy Liberty bonds. As a matter of fact, your old clothes fixed up a bit look better than new ones. It is not patriotic to be too well dressed in war times.

Many of the prominent summer residents of Green Hill are remaining for the late season among the number being Judge Murray and Dr. John Trainor. Mrs. John E. Campbell has been appointed chairman of the "Consolidated Drive" to be held Nov. 11th. On Monday she attended the meeting at Boston of the various chairmen of the "101st Drive" to complete the business. The school auto conveys the children of this end of the town and the children always have to attendance of one or more teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawson are at their bayside home for the fall season. Little Marion Sheldon was taken ill after moving to Medford and it was deemed advisable to bring her back to the beach. Mrs. Sheldon and Marion came down on Wednesday and are now with Grandpa and Grandma Campbell.

Mrs. Henry Burr is caring for her grandchildren, son, Chauncey, being very ill at his home in Hingham with influenza.

The beach has been singularly free from the prevailing malady. Mrs. Ramsey at present writing is critically ill with Bright's disease at her home on Nantasket Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Berman who have summered at Allerton have moved to their home, 106 Thorndike St., Brookline.

Hon. James Curley and family have closed his summer home on the ocean front at Kennerly and removed to his home Jamaica way.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. O'Neil and family have closed their summer home at Kennerly and removed to their city home, 20 Cushing Avenue, Dorchester, Mass.

It is almost time for the celebrated N. B. White Club to begin its meetings. Miss M. E. Walsh will remain at her summer home for a few weeks longer. She expects to spend the winter in Florida instead of Bermuda this year.

The Apollo Theatre is open every evening. Good shows. Anastas Bros. fruit stores and Police Headquarters are the only lighted places of an evening along the Boulevard.

It is said that few of the steamboat company's employees are to remain at the beach this winter.

Mrs. Frank Reynolds held a most successful whist party at her home Rockland Park in aid of Dorothy Bradford Chapter O. E. S.

Tony Porrazzo has opened a harrier shop in Hingham.

Chief Stevens of the Fire Department is away on vacation this week. The Bayville Theatre held no performance this week in the interest of health.

THURSTON, THE MAGICIAN

Thurston, the famous magician, (Karl's Successor) with new magic, conjuring and colloquy, illusions, and all the similar entertainment comes to be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, for two weeks starting next Monday, September 23, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

Today Thurston stands more firmly entrenched in the affection and esteem of the American public than ever before, because not satisfied with his conquests of the past, he is marching on and upward to grander heights and greater achievements. His expenditures for this season eclipse all other years, his new and startling mysteries; his gorgeous and costly scenery and effects, and the greatly enlarged company, combine to make it the greatest show ever presented by him and the magic sunbeams and starting mysteries; his gorgeous and costly scenery and effects, and the greatly enlarged company, combine to make it the greatest show ever presented by him and the magic sunbeams and starting mysteries.

His show for this season has reached a size undreamed of even by Thurston himself. It is the proud boast of Thurston that he is able to present the newest and most sensational mysteries of the age every year. This year it is the show of a hundred new wonders.

Theatregoers have rewarded Thurston with their confidence, and this in itself more than any other single factor, has been responsible for his overwhelming success and prosperity. Most of his new features for this year deal with life in the afterworld such as the manifestations of Spirits and the materialization of Ghosts.

For the second week of the third season of the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre, a play will be "The Man Who Went," a romantic war-time drama by W. A. Tremayne. This will be its first production in Boston. Mr. Tremayne has written many successful plays, among them "Lost—24 Hours" and "The Dagger and the Cross," and "The Man Who Went" is his latest and most successful. It has been received with great enthusiasm in other cities and there is every reason why Boston theatregoers should find it no less entertaining.

"The Man Who Went" has been truthfully called a companion piece of "The Man Who Stayed at Home." Its action takes place in England during the early days of the war, just at the moment when the Germans are concentrating all their efforts against the English and are scheming to get to England and to prevent the shipment of troops to the Continent by every means in their power. The leading character is Dick Kent, a Secret Service Officer of the British army. Like Christopher Brent in "The Man Who Stayed at Home," few people know what he is, and many think him to be a slacker. Prominent also in the action is Jack Thornton, a King's Messenger, and through the machination of a couple of spies, a man and a woman, valuable documents given into his custody disappear. It is all worked out ingeniously, and the audience is kept on the qui vive of interest and expectation over the development and outcome of the mystery.

The cast will include E. E. Clive, Fred W. Permal, R. N. Lewin, H. Coaway Wingfield, Estelle Lehaud, Viola Roach, Mercedes Desmore and Leonard Craske in the leading roles.

Laurette Taylor, probably the most widely discussed actress of the English-speaking stage and certainly the most popular with audiences in New York and London (harly any other actress have seen her in the past six years) comes to the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, for a limited engagement, next Monday, September 30, in "Happiness," a "comedy of character," by her husband, J. Hartley Manners, in which she appears with such success at the Criterion Theatre, New York, last season.

Miss Taylor has appeared for only one performance in Boston since she first flamed into fame in New York as the leading role of "The Bird of Paradise." This one time that has never-to-be-forgotten night last May when she gave her memorable impersonation to Little Annie Hudd in the all-star performance of Mr. Manners' "Out There" at the Boston Opera House in aid of the National Red Cross.

It was on the night of December 20, 1912, that Miss Taylor, already established as a popular favorite in New York, entrenched herself as a star. On that occasion occurred the metropolitan premiere of Mr. Manners' "Out There," in which she created the leading role. She played this character in New York continuously for eighteen months, achieving the second longest run in the history of the American theatre.

For a tour of the large cities of the country, Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger and E. G. O. Tyler selected "Happiness," her latest New York success, as the vehicle best suited to display her remarkable versatility and genius. In this play she is seen as a dressmaker's apprentice, a court character possessed of splendid courage and a keen sense of humor, who succeeds in her efforts to win a position of distinction in the business world. This attraction is one of the most notable to appear in Boston this season.

NEW PORTRAIT OF DICKENS

Engraving of Noted Author, Reverenced by Lovers of Literature, Recently Sold at Auction.

A new portrait of Dickens, hitherto unknown, not only to his friends, but even to his family, is surely a rare discovery, says Christian Science Monitor, commenting on the fact that Dickens had the pleasure of seeing the reproduction of his portrait, which is a crayon drawing, is signed W. J. L. initials which are believed to stand for W. J. Linton, the famous wood engraver, the author of several pictures for "A Christmas Carol" and "The Chimes."

It was from Mrs. E. Lynn Linton, W. Linton's wife, that Dickens bought the portrait. It is reported now that Mrs. Cleverly is very ill. Mrs. Cleverly was to have made her home with the doctor's father and sister at Hull during his absence.

Dr. Harry Cleverly was taken ill with influenza just on the eve of his departure for camp and was returned to his home. It is reported now that Mrs. Cleverly is very ill. Mrs. Cleverly was to have made her home with the doctor's father and sister at Hull during his absence.

Dr. Harry Cleverly had planned to assist in war work in Hull Village. We hope both will quickly recover. It is said that the Liberty Loan has a smart and up to date committee appointed in the town.

BEFORE THE PRIMARIES

Thomas W. Lawson, independent candidate for United States Senator, issued the following statement: "I have filed today with the State House authorities about 2200 certified nomination papers. I will file on Monday between 1500 and 2000 more. I have on hand about 4000 more names that were not certified because of technical defects. My daughter secured the bulk of the signatures without any cost. The first 1000 names upon which I will run are all Welsh surnames.

"Without my daughter I could have done nothing, as I have no working force. "My sons and daughters are in the service, along with 12 others of my family. My secretary, Mr. McSwaney, is in the trenches; his assistant and successor, Charles Arch, yesterday in his way with 2800 signatures was hurried to the hospital for operation, and he is now hanging between life and death.

"It has developed that had my daughter and myself known anything about the game we could have got a hundred thousand signatures—yes, more than half the voters of the State probably. It looks to me as though I was going to win out with 50,000 to 100,000 to spare. Of course, betting doesn't count; but, as John D. Rockefeller, like myself, is in the stock gambling game, and as both of us are sports, I make this offer just to show how it looks to me now. I bet $5000 even, winnings to go to the Red Cross, that will have on Nov. 5 more votes than Woodrow Wilson combined, and I will bet another $5000 to $3000 I have from two and a half to five votes for every one for Weeks."

Representative Hats for Young Girls

There is a greater difference this fall between the hats designed for grown-ups and those intended for the young miss than has been evident for several seasons. It is because shapes for women are more subtle in lines than they have been. Fashion decrees simple trimmings and compels restrictions in the amount of handwork on millinery, therefore interest is obliged to center in shapes, and they are beautiful and unusual. But youth cannot follow the devious ways of today's brims and crowns in its millinery; even in the matter of the hats, shapes for misses must be frankly simple.

Above there are grouped four hats, for girls from twelve to eighteen years old, that include four representative shapes, and each hat differs in every way from all the others. At the top there is a quaint poke-bonnet affair, very plainly covered with velvet and very demurely trimmed with a band of grosgrain ribbon and a bow at the back. The bow is small with an up-standing loop against the crown and two short ends on the brim. The designer might have stopped here if she chose to go to the limit of simplicity in trimming, but she had not the courage to sacrifice the pretty effect of a bow and bash ends that fall from the underbrim. They make just the finish needed for the girl from twelve to sixteen.

A hat for younger girls is shown at the right. It has a round crown and a narrow drooping brim and is entirely covered with narrow ribbon put on row after row. It is finished with a band of velvet ribbon tied in a bow at the back with two loops and two ends and is made in several colors and color combinations.

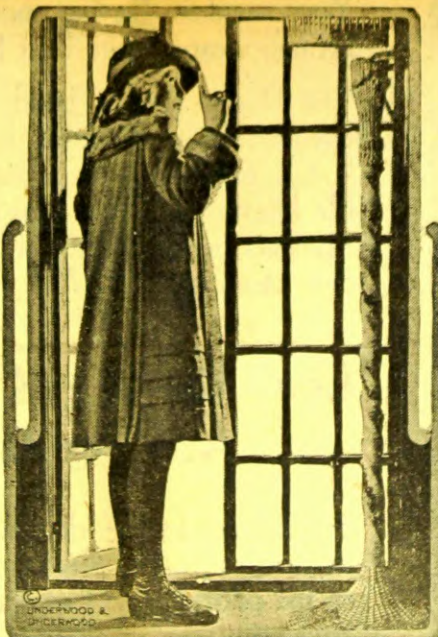

Girls in their teens will like best of all the hat at the left. It has a wide and droopy brim, falling into pretty curves at the edge and faced with crepe georgette. Plaited satin ribbon lies over the upper brim and the same ribbon is draped over the crown. A wired bow of narrow velvet ribbon, that finishes this lovely hat, convinces us that as long as milliners have ribbons they need nothing else for the young girl's hat.

At the bottom of the group is a hat to make glad the heart of the debutante. Its crown and brim are covered with ribbon and it is faced with velvet. There is a band of velvet ribbon about the crown slipped through two rings of jet or something that resembles it, giving the hat a grown-up air. But the brim is of uniform width all around and the plaited ribbon is a girlish garniture—two things that distinguish it from hats for young women.

Of Broadcloth and Squirrel

Baby Bunting's daddy may have gone a hunting as usual this year, for rabbit skins to wrap the baby up in, but the chances are that Baby Bunting's mother will send him out again after squirrel. All mothers appear to have set their hearts on squirrel fur for little folks' wear, especially as a trimming for cloth coats. Not that her rabbit has been allowed to go his way undisturbed, but his pelt is called by other names than his own and masquerades in colors and markings unknown to the rabbit species. It is called by the name of the fur it imitates, with a qualifying adjective prefixed—and makes satisfactory coats and coat trimmings for children and young girls—as well as a great variety of fur sets for them.

A pretty coat of tan broadcloth, for a girl of ten or so, is shown in the picture. It is made with a wide panel at the front and back set to side bodies that are tucked in three wide tucks above the hem. It has a collar and cuffs of the broadcloth banded with squirrel and is long enough, like all children's coats, to cover the dress entirely. This is a dressy little coat, not of the sturdy sorts that are used for everyday wear. But it is a model which may be copied in darker and heavier cloths and has lines that help out the slim figures of fast growing little girls who have arrived at the angular stage which we call the awkward age.

Besides broadcloth there are the new pile fabrics somewhat heavier than panne velvet but resembling it, which are used for small girls' coats. They are to be worn when the little miss is much dressed up and are chosen often for tiny girls than for those who have left babyhood far behind them on their little journey in the world. For older girls, broadcloth and other coatings are better.

WHY WOMEN DREAD OLD AGE

Don't worry about old age. Don't worry about being in other people's way when you are getting on in years. Keep your body in good condition and you can be as hale and hearty in your old days as you were when a kid, and every one will be glad to see you.
The kidneys and bladder are the causes of senile afflictions. Keep them clean and in proper working condition. Drive the poisonous wastes from the system and avoid acid accumulations. Take GOLD MEDAL Hairless Oil Capsules periodically and you will find that the system will always be in perfect working order. Your spirits will be enlivened, your muscles made strong and your face have once more the look of youth and health.
New life, fresh strength and health will come as you continue this treatment. When your first vigor has been restored continue for while taking a capsule or two each day. They will keep you in condition and prevent a return of your troubles.
There is only one guaranteed brand of Hairless Oil Capsules, GOLD MEDAL.
 There are many fakes on the market. Be sure you get the Original GOLD MEDAL Imported Hairless Oil Capsules. They are the only reliable. For sale by all first-class

Sounded Big to Him.
An old colored man, whose name
 might well have been Old Black Joe,
 was standing on front of the district building the other day, says the Washington Star. He was bent with age, but was singing as he walked slowly
 along.

Just then a young colored man and woman walked by. They were talking, and just a phrase of their conversation was to be heard as they went by.
"I think that Mr. Johnson," the young colored woman said, "has a pre-mation."
That was all, but it was enough for Old Black Joe.
He straightened up, grinned, and
 said:
"What was dat Mr. Johnson hab, boss?"

Introducing the "Yumka."
The officiating minister at the Welsh chapel in the hills was of English extraction, but he did his best with the Welsh names in the intimation given to him to read from the pulpit. This was the conclusion of his announcement:
"And, dear friends, on Friday night
 there will be the usual meeting of the Yumka."
The congregation was mystified as to the identity of the Yumka—all except the author of the document, who knew he had written "Y. M. C. A."—

PROUDEST MAN IN UNIFORM

Wins Promotion From Corporal to Platoon Leader for Daring Piece of Work on Night Patrol Duty.

Paris.—It was on the boulevard.
The Opera. The Opera was but a scant half block away. And it was dark, both the Opera and the boulevard. The only light came from the kiosks advertising Paris newspapers, patent bouillon and talcum powder.
There I heard the typical story of the American second lieutenant, the platoon leader who's doing a wonderful bit in winning the war.

Call him Prettyman, which isn't his name. He was a deputy superintendent of banks before the war. As he said himself, he'd never been out in his life after one in the morning except in a taxicab. He used to earn $6,000 a year, have his bath every morning and a cocktail before dinner.
He is a typical successful young New Yorker.

"Gosh," he said, "I'm the proudest man in this army. I've got two kinds of itches at the same time."

"We came over on the Justicia, the one that was torpedoed the other day," he said.

"And they spewed us out at an English port at eleven o'clock one night, and at eleven the next night
we were back of the lines in Flanders. I was only a corporal then.
Then we were moved to Alsace and there we got our first taste of war.
Incidentally, there I got to be a platoon leader."

On Night Patrol.
"Here's what it was. Up in the first line the Heulies were just about fifty yards away. One night the order came for a patrol. Now, it's hard to tell you about a patrol standing here in the boulevard. Out there it's as black as the inside of your shoe.
It's into that that a patrol is supposed to go. And we went. Sure I was scared. Scared green. I didn't know where I was, and I had the lives of 80 men in the hollow of my hand.
But we went. We laid for 14 hours right up against the German wire and we located every machine gun they had, and every man jack of us got back to our own lines safely."

"My God! It was different from New York. It was a lot different from Paris. It was hell. But when the Heulies came over the next day we knew where they were coming from.
And we sloshed them."

"That country is full of spies and our wires from the front line back were cut. So I went back myself.
They'd laid down the best box barrage I have ever seen. Oh, I got through it, because I was lucky, I suppose. I got through it three times that night, in fact. And me, never out after one o'clock in my life before except in a taxicab. Say, it was fierce.
Right out in the open country. All I had to tell me where I was were the telephone wires. And they were cut.
I was almost sick to my stomach when I lit the break in that friendly little black wire I'd kept running through my hand. But we did get word through. And all the Germans got by way of prisoners were 17 cripples that had been sent up to the front line by mistake."

"And, say, I feel they're going to get me. I've got my second lieutenantcy and I'm going back up to the front in a few days, as soon as this celebration is over. And I have a hunch that I won't come back."
"I've got a little sister and a dear father that I'd like to go back to, but there's something bigger than that."

I'm wearing the uniform, I am. I don't make a bit of difference if I die, because there are four, five, as many millions as you want, more. Only when I do die I'm going to take at least five Heulies with me. And I'm going to handle the sixty or seventy or the hundred and twenty men under me so they'll do the same.

Allies Are Fine Soldiers.
"Sure, I get awful impatient with the French sometimes because they don't understand our language. And the British sometimes rub me the wrong way. I've had fist fights with 'em both—before I got to be an officer. But they're all in the same game and you can tell the folks back home
that they're damned good soldiers, those British and French, every one of them. Only we're going to go them out better—partially the platoon leader of the — company of the —th.
You'll hear from us. Only if you're dropping a line to the folks I know

PLAY GAME WITH HUN "TIN FISH"

London.—How a certain United States naval observer daily plays the game of life and death with Hun "tin fish" was interestingly told here recently by a member of the committee on public information as follows:

"A short, thick, temporary ensign, one T. H. Murphy, with red face and blue eyes, sits day and night in his office in a little shack at a United States naval air station, poring over rulsed maps with colored strings stretched on them and queer red-headed pins stuck in them."

"His job is to keep track of every Hun submarine that is in operation.
Being a former submarine man himself, his instinct for them is that of a ferret after a rat."
"He knows when they need air, how badly every depth charge has tickled them—knows even when they must come to the surface for the skipper to smoke his cigar, as there is no smoking inside a submarine."

"Murphy's knowledge decides the success or failure of the many young reserve ensigns of the naval flying force now at stations where there are young men who have left the hallrooms of New York or the battlefields of Yale and Harvard to take a whack
at the Hun."

"Take, for instance, Ensign E. J.
Schleffelin of New York city and of the Yale class, 1919. He is direct descendant of John Jay, of Revolutionary fame, and his father left home for the Spanish-American war in the same ship that carried his son to this one."

Murphy Was Right.
"Schleffelin was in Murphy's office
early one morning when that expert took the pipe from his mouth, stuck
a pin in the middle of the North sea and then blew out a fine cloud of smoke."

"They'll be needin' one," he said,
"right about there."
"One what?"
"A smoke, of course. They've been under so many hours on such and such a course. In three hours they'll branch and the reason will be tobacco.
Search area—and you'll find a sub."

"Schleffelin was the first pilot.
The second pilot was Lieut. Roger W. Cutler, stroke and captain of the Harvard varsity crew of 1917. The crew of the big seaplane was completed by Bernstein, the machinist's mate,
and Taggart, electrician and champion 100-yard sprinter."

"Three hours later a bright herringbone sea was creeping under them. Through the mist the visibility was bad, but suddenly both officers made the same exclamation

SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM AT HIGH TIDE IN W. VA.

Charleston, W. Va.—The spirit of co-operation and patriotism is rampant throughout the coal mining regions of southern West Virginia.

A preacher and his congregation volunteered one night to dig 100 tons of coal. Many miners after completing their day's work return for a few hours at night to dig more coal. Many farmers, too, put in a few hours at night
in the mines.

Just tell them that you saw me—in Paris celebrating, and on the way to the front, where I don't expect ever to come back from. Good-by, old man;
good luck!"
And he strode across the street and disappeared. His job ahead of him to do, full knowledge of the cost of that job, and proud to pay the price demanded—even to the ultimate. He's the platoon leader, the U. S. A. platoon leader, that's going to win this war.

under their breath as the seaman
called to his mate:

"A large Hun is going north, one gun," Schleffelin remarked. "Say, Murphy was right, only I don't see anyone smoking!"

"The plane got itself between the sub and the sun. Then, for two whole minutes it bore down on the Hun shark. She loomed up through the mist 'big as a house,' Schleffelin said afterward.

"Within a half minute she started to submerge with—

"Crash!"
"Now," said Cutler, "we will give them a light."

Brought Home the Onions.
"He tripped his bomb release at the instant the big plane was directly over the enemy's conning tower, which was exactly awash. Schleffelin threw the machine into a vertical bank to observe the effect of the explosion."

"A white geyser spouted fifteen feet on the enemy's port beam. The delay had been just right."
"Look, her propeller's out," laughed one of the men. They knew then that she was damaged, and that her diving planes had been so injured that she could not submerge. They knew she had to cling to the surface, that all her advantage in being a sub was lost and that she was a prey to any patrol."

"As the plane was, short of petrol, having a forty-mile wind to fight against, the American lads set sail for home with a sense of a deed well done. The rest was routine. The plane signaled a drifter: 'There is a damaged sub five miles northwest of you.'"

"The drifter, knowing that a sub on the surface would start to run like a scared cat, as damaged subs do,
and that they couldn't catch her, relayed the news to certain destroyers.
The destroyers did the rest, hurried up, rammed the U-boat, and there were only six survivors. Her diving machine had probably been damaged. The destroyers put her down, but she was the prize of Schleffelin of Yale and Cutler of Harvard. It was Cutler's first fly as a pilot on a war patrol."

"The first bombs he ever dropped in action brought home the onions."

Brother Seeks Revenge.
Scottsdale, Pa.—Waiving exemption
previously granted as a railroader, Freeman Hamilton of Everson has petitioned the draft board to place him in class 1 and send him to camp immediately. Hamilton wishes to avenge the death of his brother, who was killed in action.

PRINTING BONDS FOR FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

One entire division of the bureau of engraving and printing at Washington is now engaged solely on the engraving of Liberty Loan bonds. Working day and night, a force of experts turns out millions of dollars' worth of this paper and ink ammunition, which is doing as much for the final defeat of Germany as the steel-tipped shells that are being hurled at the Huns from allied guns. These men are also his employ some of the greatest engraving experts in the country, men and women, all of whom are now working overtime to have bonds ready for the next issue. This is a recent photograph of the bureau's largest pressroom working night and day on six billion dollars' worth of bonds.

NO DOUBTING HIS MEANING

Corporal's Words Must Have Contained Full Information Even to the Most Unintelligent.

This week's story from the front: A certain company sergeant major was not popular with his men. They accused him of having cold feet.

One day the company went into a rest camp 20 miles behind the front line, where it was an impossibility any shells could reach them. The ground, however, was very waterlogged, and a fatigue party was detailed to dig a drainage trench.

Presently a sergeant happened to pass that way.

"What are you digging there?" he shouted to the corporal in charge of the job.

A grimy face, from which the sweat was pouring, popped up from the trench. It belonged to one of the sergeant major's most persistent and relentless adversaries.

"Diggin' a communication trench from the sergeant's mess to the sergeant major's dugout," he shouted, in a voice well within hearing of the mess tent, at the entrance to which the N. C. O. in question was standing.—Pearson's Weekly.

POSTAL SYSTEM IN DISARRAY

German Government at Its Wit's End to Stop Thievery From the Goods in Transit.

Extraordinary steps have been taken by the German government to call a halt to the thieves within the postal system. It was claimed that out of ten parcels sent three would disappear. Packages to soldiers at the front containing food, delicacies and clothing would disappear more frequently than any other shipments. All appeals to the patriotic spirit of the thieves were of no avail. The percentage of thefts increased steadily. Finally the government was compelled to take drastic and systematic measures. The military branch was called in and stations of control manned by non-commissioned officers and soldiers were planted at principal railway points in the empire. The employment of mere youths is blamed for the deterioration of the postal service. Practically all the employees of military age had to join the army and their places were filled by boys and girls. Besides, the scarcity of food tempts many to steal.

Remember.

When the war is over, no excuse will so.

Either you were in it or you were not.

Either you shouldered your gun, served in the trenches, or the Young Men's Christian association, the Red Cross or in some place where the door was opened, or else you did nothing.

If you could not serve, you could send your boys with a Godspeed, as they marched out to the front. To hold them back stamped them as slackers.

Either you strained your resources to buy Liberty bonds or you forgot your obligation to those who fought and died for your flag.

Disqualification for active service is no justification for forgetting the boys behind the guns who sacrificed all thought of gain and were willing to sacrifice their lives at their country's call.—Leslie's.

"Orion" Type of Stars.

The youngest stars of which we have knowledge are the "Orion" type of stars. The constellation of Orion is composed mainly of them, as well as parts of Taurus, the Pleiades, and parts of Perseus. In color they are much like the Sirius type, bluish white, and brilliant, but a spectroscopic at once detects the difference between them. Stars like Sirius and Vega are surrounded by hydrogen gas, but the Orion stars have no hydrogen, and are made of helium and nebula. They often have great volumes of fine nebula dust about them, showing that they are still in the process of condensing out of the primitive star matter.

Drop in Irish Birthrate.

The Irish registrar general's return for the first quarter of this year shows a drop in the Irish birth rate of 3.0 below the average for the previous ten years. The marriage rate is practically stationary. The death rate is 3.3 below the average.

You Do Say, Mr. Fleherman!

J. W. Partridge, federal fisheries commissioner, is trying to encourage housewives to buy sea fish. He was discussing the virtues of the sea fish the other day.

Ask the Thief.

The lawyer was trying hard for his client and was acting the polite, out in a logical manner. There was one thing he was not quite clear about and he accordingly said:

"Now, sir, you state my client knocked you down and then disappeared in the darkness. What time of night was this?"

"I can't say exactly," the complainant answered dryly. "Your client had my watch."

HULLONIANS' HAPPY HOURS

All that is heard now is "The Fourth Loan is the Fighting Loan." Every Hundred Dollar Bond Makes a Hun Bread More.

An attractive poster displayed at the Allerton Station of the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R., and elsewhere which says, "Fourth Liberty Loan. Hulls are quiet. $415,000. Based on our valuation, Hull gives you your health and your pleasure. Hull needs and expects your subscription."

This has been a busy week for Hull from one end to the other. What with summer guests departing and picketing, and preserving and getting back to normal regime of the permanent residents together with the sale of pigs and the tax sales, to say nothing of the opening meetings, executive and otherwise of the local societies, with house cleaning and its attendant duties thrown in, there are strenuous times. And when on top of all the rest, plying on Ossa, if it were, comes the "Fighting Fourth Liberty Loan" it looks as if the person who had any time hanging heavy on his hands must be an invalid.

The Public Safety Committee through its sub committee have sold most of the pigs. It has been stated by Mr. C. E. West, chairman of the committee and one who took a great deal of interest all summer in the welfare of the porkers, that in the 100 days that the committee have had the pigs under their charge the pigs have gained in weight 150 lbs. which is considered good. The pigs have been their duty and done it, and of course, we know that the committee have been more than faithful in performance of their duty.

Mrs. Abbott and daughter, Miss Adelaide, have remained for the late season at their summer home.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Knight formerly of Hull now comfortably settled in a new bungalow near their son, Albert at East Jaffrey, N. H., that they are as well as usual and spending their declining years as comfortably as possible. Miss Eliza Knight and Francis Desmond has visited them during the summer as has Mrs. Abbott. Two of their grandchildren are married. Harold Knight, Albert's son and Miss Ruth Hazeltine, their daughter Grace's daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mitchell have learned through a letter written by a comrade that Oscar, their moved son, was one of the six to volunteered to go out and take a machine gun. Oscar was the only boy to lose his life. We all knew that he did some brave deed. Just before he went away he said to Mr. Rudolph, "John, I don't care what becomes of this old body of mine, so long as I get a few Huns." How thankful we all ought to be that we have known and loved a boy with such a spirit. It is an inspiration and an honor.

The work of replacing the roof on the annex at Pemberton is going rapidly forward.

Many of the cottage colony at Pemberton are returning to their winter homes. Among those who went recently are Mrs. A. B. Balkam, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Gibson and son.

Mr. Bradford Weston, real estate and builder, who has entered the service of the U. S. A. is at the Franklin Union. Two of Mrs. Cora B. Weston's sons are in the service, Bradford and Loren. Ezra was not accepted. He has been at home for a few weeks. Mrs. Weston is doing some building, with materials on hand and has kept business going as much as possible to give employment to the men.

Interesting letters have been received from Major Sturgis and his son, Walter, "over there". Mrs. Sturgis has been seriously ill, but is now recovered sufficiently to be out again, we are glad to state.

Mr. Smith Sturgis, Major Sturgis' father, a veteran of the Civil War is visiting with Mrs. Sturgis and he is looking very well.

Sunday driving has been cut out to such an extent that one is prone to remark that the spirit shown has "licked the Huns" already.

Dr. Harry Cleverly of Scituate, son of our Erastus H. Cleverly, has gone into the service of the U. S. A. Dr. Cleverly is a native of Hull but has lived in Scituate since he began to practice medicine.

Get your money into Kahki. Buy Liberty Bonds.

This is a good season for week-end parties. Many desirable houses to let for fishing parties, etc. Ask E. J. Sivovich, Allerton.

Don't forget that the Boston Cash Market is open all winter and has prices right.

Mrs. Charles Randall has repaired to her winter home after a successful season at the Nautilus Inn, Allerton.

After much good work the Service Club at Allerton Hill has closed for the season.

Again the Special Aid ladies, or to be exact Miss Bernice Gilman acting under a call from the State Special Aid has done quick work in fitting out some boys. Not being able to obtain supplies from the Allerton branch which had shipped all its goods, headquarters were visited and about 47 pairs of socks of the required number secured, the Hull branch Special Aid came to the rescue and Miss Gilman rushed to Fort Andrew with the full number just in the nick of time. This happened a few weeks ago but nothing before was said because the boys were leaving for over sea service.

Mrs. Brewster Mitchell, wife of Officer Mitchell is the happy possessor of a new Ford Sedan, presented to her by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lund of Philadelphia, who have recently concluded a visit with her. The car was a big surprise to Mrs. Mitchell. It came all equipped and Miss Gladys had been taking lessons and was able to drive which was another surprise.

It is said that Frank Kingdom, Jr., is rapidly growing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzroy Kelly have closed their summer home and have opened their town home on Newbury St., Boston.

One of the teachers from the Village School accompanies the children to and from school.

Dr. M. Howard Summerfield in the service of U. S. A. has been home from the south where he is in camp on a 10 days furlough. He is looking very well. Has many interesting stories too.

Mrs. Lewis N. Gilman has been appointed chairman of the Woman's Committee on Liberty Loan Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Keeler of Upham's Corner and family and daughter, Mrs. Fred Stewart are spending the autumn season at their former home at Allerton. Mr. Phillip Keeler who has been attending Boston University was down for a few days. He is now in the draft.

Mr. J. G. Braman of the Allerton Gables has opened a first class boarding house the New Adelaide at 213 Waterman street, Providence.

Warren Nixon, 826 Nantasket Avenue, Allerton, phone Hull 225, will do chores and errands after school and Saturdays.

The sale of property for unpaid taxes which took place on Saturday at the Tax Collectors' office Hull Village, were continued to Tuesday. Mrs. Cora B. Weston, Mr. John R. Wheeler were the largest bidders. On Tuesday by advice of the town counsellor Hon. Thomas H. Butters, no one appearing to bid on the unsold tax titles, Mr. Waterhouse bid them in for the town. Mr. Waterhouse should have the appreciation of the people for the just and pains taking manner in which he conducts the sales, and the personal interest he takes in the matter.

Bag off ears on Sunday if you work for the Liberty Loan. Oh, Liberty Loan, what gas will be burned in your name!

George F. James Atty has been appointed on the Questionnaire Committee for this district. Those wishing advice consult him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hubbard are again at their summer home. Mr. Hubbard is some fisherman.

Later report from Dr. Cleverly says he is very ill.

Miss Stubbins has charge of the collection of peach stones for the S. H. S. A. P. at Hull.

Osage Orange Toughest of Woods. One of the toughest of woods is that of the so-called Osage orange, which, however, is not an orange at all, but belongs to the nettle family. Some idea of its strength may be had from a report made not long ago by the forest service, which shows that a block 80 inches long and 2 inches by 2 inches in cross section, when bent, breaks under a stress of 13,000 pounds.

Literal.

"Josh Billings said he was an honest man because jail life didn't agree with him." "That was frank, wasn't it?" "No, it was Josh. Never heard of Frank Billings."—Boston Transcript.

True Mahogany.

True mahogany is produced by only two species of trees which are closely related—Swietenia mahogni Jacq and Swietenia macrophylla King, natives of tropical America. There are various cabinet woods passed off for real mahogany. A bulletin recently published by the department of agriculture named "67 species of 41 genera, and scattered through 18 families of the vegetable kingdom."

Cremona Violins.

Small splinters of the wood of old Cremona violins, when vibrated with a bow, have been found to give invariably the same note, and that note is always a tone higher when the wood is taken from the belly of the instrument than when it comes from the back.
